Oakton Community College – Cannabis Industry Certificates and Workshops

Illinois cannabis license applicants and prospective applicants are invited to attend free workshops offered by Oakton Community College — to help them navigate the state's licensing process and move closer to beginning careers in the emerging cannabis industry. Prospective applicants can start planning now in preparation for the future release of cannabis business applications

Most sessions will be held through the Zoom app this fall in an open-forum format, small group settings, and one-to-one consultations. Overview sessions are open to all, while the small group and consultation sessions are for those who qualify as social equity applicants.. Register for sessions.

In fall 2019, Oakton launched the Cannabis Dispensary and Patient Care Specialist certificate program, becoming the first community college in the nation to offer a college-credit career certificate focused on the medical cannabis field. Last fall, Oakton introduced a new Cannabis Transportation, Logistics and Supply Chain Management certificate program to meet the growing needs of the cannabis industry. Oakton's 14-credit hour certificate program will prepare transporters to apply state laws and regulations to transport and track cannabis securely. The College launched a 12-credit hour Cannabis Cultivation Certificate this spring in its new hands-on cannabis cultivation lab on the Des Plaines campus.
